HOW TO PLAY

THE DEALING OF THE CARDS

Andar Bahar is played with a single 52-card deck. The game starts when the first card, called the 'Joker', is dealt.

The aim of the game is to predict which side will be dealt a card that matches the 'Joker'. Will it be dealt to the Andar side or to the Bahar side?

After betting time is closed, the dealer will deal cards first to the Bahar side, then to the Andar side, and so on, alternating between the two sides.

The dealing continues until a card with the same value as the 'Joker' is dealt, regardless of the suit. Whichever side is dealt a matching card is declared the winner.

PLACING BETS

You can choose to place the main bet on either Andar or Bahar. You can also place one or more side bets, where you guess how many cards will be dealt before a match with the 'Joker' is made. The side bet/s can be placed with or without the main bet.

Players can place bets after the 'Joker' has been dealt.

ENGAGING SIDE BETS

There are eight side bets to choose from, ranging from 'Cards 1-5', 'Cards 6-10' and so on, through to 'Cards 41-51'.

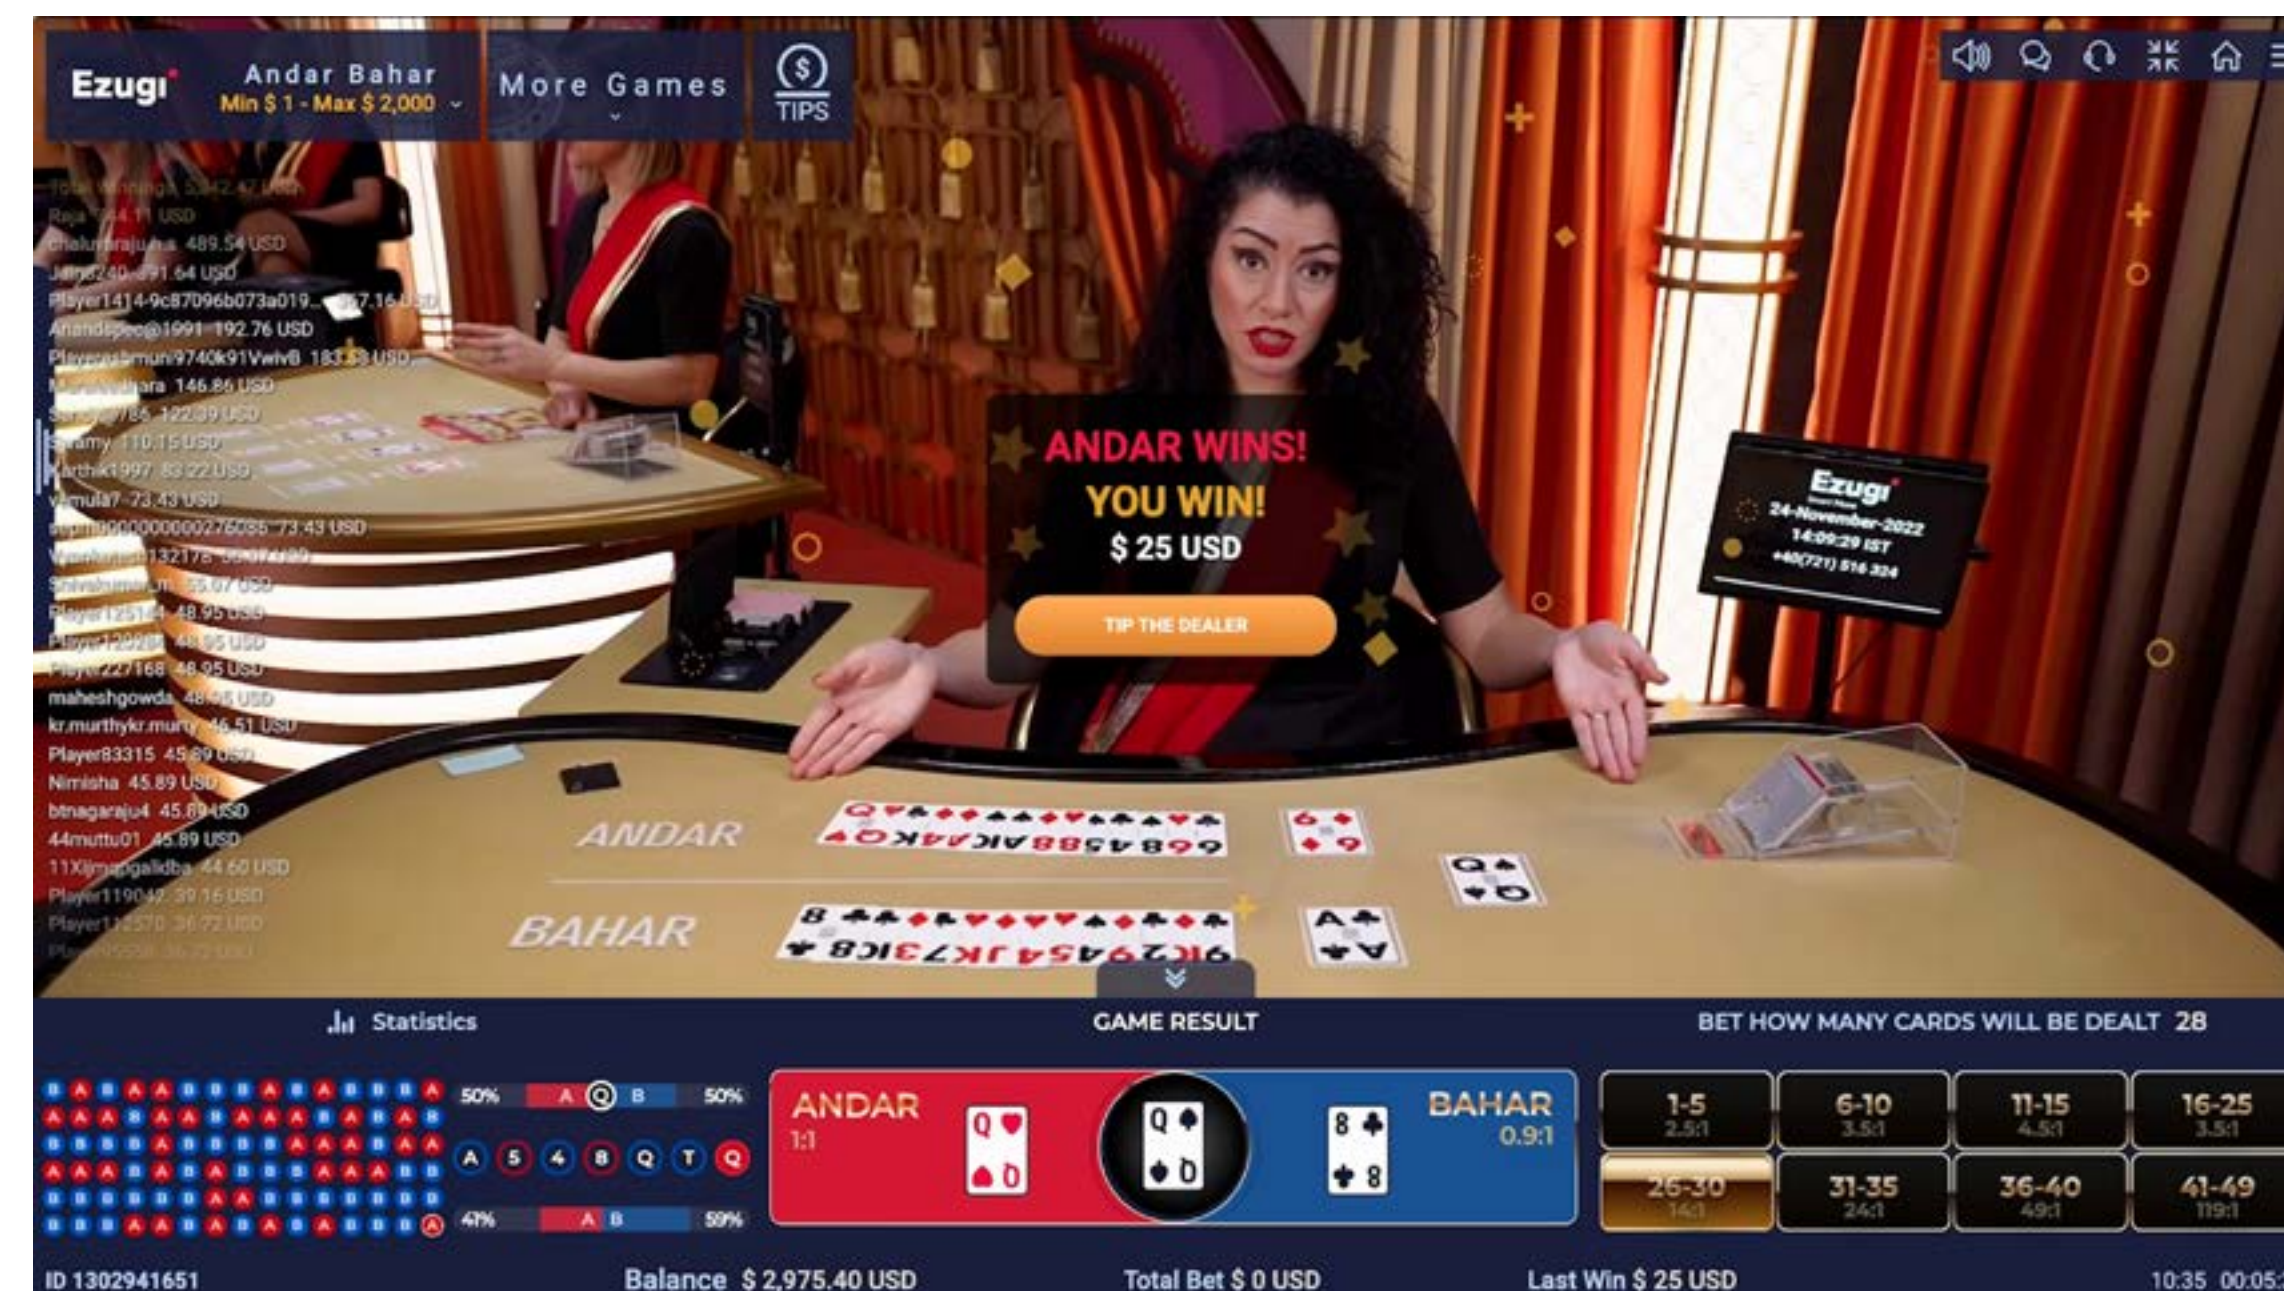

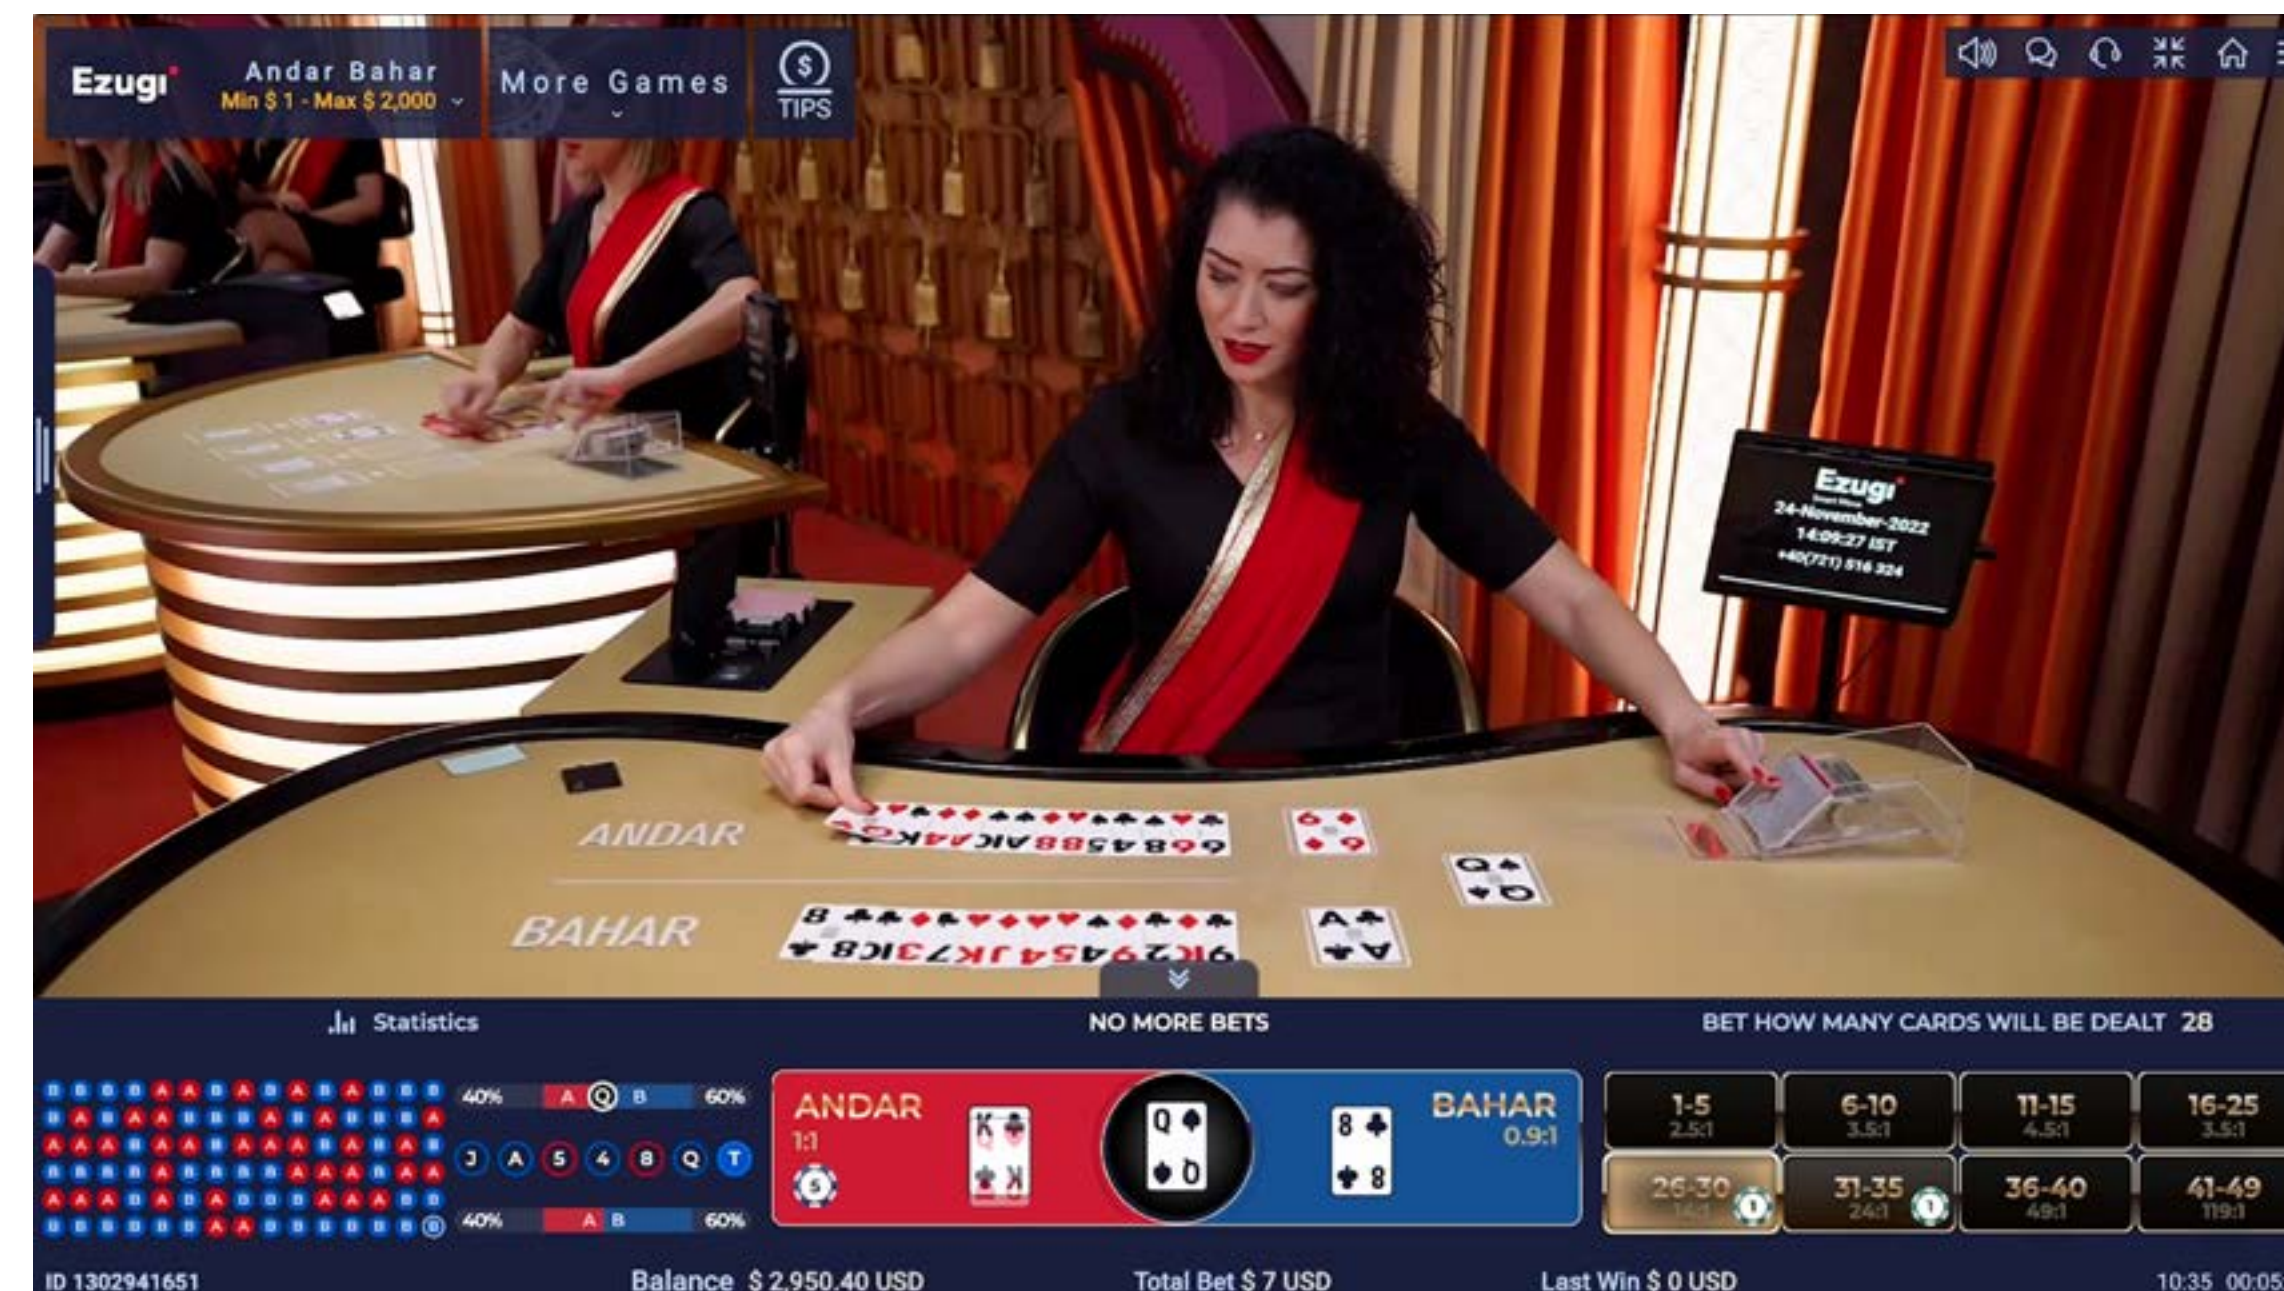

For example, if you think that a card matching the 'Joker' will be dealt at the very end of the pack, you might choose the 'Cards 41-51' side bet. Similarly, if you think that a card matching the 'Joker' will be dealt in the first five cards, you would choose the 'Cards 1-5' side bet.

What makes the side bets exciting is that the payouts get bigger and bigger in line with the increasing number of cards needed to be dealt before a card matching the 'Joker' is revealed.

GAME OUTCOME

If the player has placed a bet on a winning hand either Andar or Bahar, the payout will be according to the payout table.

If the player also placed a bet on a winning side bet, this bet is multiplied according to the payout table.
