HOW TO PLAY

The objective of Roulette is to predict the number on which the ball will land by placing one or more bets that cover that particular number. The wheel in European Roulette includes the numbers 1-16 plus a single 0 (zero).

You can place many different kinds of bets on the Roulette table. Bets can cover a single number or a certain range of numbers - each type of bet has its own payout rate.

Bets made on the numbered spaces on the betting area, or on the lines between them, are called inside bets, while bets made on the special boxes below and to the side of the main grid of numbers are called outside bets. A Straight Up bet or a Split bet are examples of inside bets, bets on Red/Black or Even/Odd are examples of outside bets.

After the betting time has expired, the ball is spun within the Roulette wheel. The ball will eventually come to rest in one of the numbered pockets. You win if you have placed a bet that covers that particular number.

Neighbour bets are placed on a special oval or racetrack-shaped betting area that allows you to more easily place neighbour bets and other special bets. Each bet covers a different set of numbers and offers different payout odds. Bet spots will be highlighted on the betting grid when placing neighbour bets.
